THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Check out the Wall Street Journal's great profile of my office's new LAX interactive dashboard. Users can explore a real-time noise map, what LAX buys, and data on traffic, passenger experience, and more.

"You can see how the money is spent, check salaries of airport employees, chart car rentals by month and see maps of noise impact and rankings of airports world-wide showing LAX lagging. It opens up the inner workings of a major airport as never before."
